

GERT SIBANDE DISTRICT

RWH&C

This was the day where the training was conducted to the farmers giving information about rain water harvesting system and how it will help the farmers since they have water scarcity problems

We went to view the site and we had a talk with the farmer on which system we were going to use, and we agreed that we will do roof water harvesting since the farmer had a good structure to harvest more water

Sharing knowledge on the use and conservation of water for food production

Much more information on this and many other rainwater harvesting practices can be found on the website: www.amanziforfood.co.za
